THUESDAY EVENING, MAY 31, 1906 We'll Enter In Some Day.

Let not the show're of anguish fal.! A living God rules over all, To comfort those who m urn. Some day—sometime—'twill not be long We'll enter with death's mystic throng God's fathoulesss Unknown—

Yea cuter a vast campany— When we have cross'd the silent sex Beyond this vale of tears. We'll gather on Life's river-hanks. Where we shall find those countless ranks Death garner'd—aye, for years!

Shall we not 'mid, this gath'ring meet Our missing ones, and gladly greet Them as in days of yore? Methinks, within those jasper walls, Where comes me hight—no shadow falls—We'll join them evermore; The serpent's teat is swept away; Their earth-night changed to perfect day; With our below'd 'tis well.

Can we not say, "God's will be done," If they've rest's quiet qu relon won, And with Him safely awell? And with Him safety dwell

God "giveth His beloved sleep."

His angels o'er them vigils keep...

They slumber on His breast.

There let them 'bide- our lov'd and lostTill we too have the Jordan cross'd,

And with them ever rest!

Waiting for His Diamond. Like Shylock, with his indgment of a pound of flesh, Tinley L. Coombs, of Omahs, has been placed in the dilemma of not being able to claim his property awarded by the court except at the risk of murder. In this instance the pound of flesh is a $300 diamond in the stomach of a self-confersed shoplifter.

Mae Thomas swall wed the diamond Saturday in the store of the T. I. Coombs Co., jewelers. She appeared to be a woman of wealth and the clerk was careless. From a tray of diamonds the woman removed the handsomest stone and concealed it in her mouth. An instant later detectives, who were following her from a store where a similar theft had been attempted, arrested her. To avoid being found with the diamond she swallowed it.

Fear of appendicitis wrung from the woman a confession, which the police confirmed by taking an X-ray photo-The negative shows the diand plainly.

"The diamond is yours," said the poice judge to the jeweler. "Take it, but if you resort to a surgical operation against the prisoner's will and she dies, The surgeons say the diamond can be recovered without an operation. So terrified is the woman at the prospect of undergoing the surgeon's kuife that she remains awake nights, fearing that while she sleeps the jailors might chloroform

And so the jeweler is waiting to re over his $200 diamond when the woman developes a case of appendicitis. This the physicians think is likely.
